

VEEAM and StarWind: Save Money on Backup Storage

CHALLENGE

Typically, backup storage is not used efficiently, and multiple copies of the same data created by independent backup jobs are stored. This happens because backup jobs are not aware of each other. The same data processed by different backup jobs is stored independently, and backup storage capacity is actually wasted.

SOLUTION

Help is on the way with Global Deduplication from StarWind! With this solution, backup jobs and agents do not need to be concerned with Deduplication. Using StarWind's Global Dedupe, backup jobs completely rely on the centralized deduplication engine that runs on top of existing backup storage. Global Deduplication gathers data from all backup jobs, deduplicates it, and stores unique data only.
